FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LOS ANGELES CONVENTION CENTER

Dan Dean Productions Releases “Dan Dean Solo Strings” for NemeSys Gigasampler®

“Dan Dean Solo Strings”, a library comprised of Solo Violin, Solo Viola and Solo Cello for Gigasampler® sets a new standard in sound quality and realism.

LOS ANGELES, CA (September 22nd 2000) – Highly regarded in the music industry, sampling wizard Dan Dean announced the release of his new “Dan Dean Solo Strings” CD-ROM for Gigasampler® today. Priced at $149. (US), this unique library features chromatically sampled Solo Violin, Solo Viola and Solo Cello.

Each and every note of all of the instruments has been sampled and placed on the keyboard. There is absolutely no transposition, pitch-shifting or stretching effects typically found in other libraries. This feature creates digital instruments of the highest caliber, where all the harmonics of each note are true. Another important feature of chromatic sampling is constant body resonance. Any note can be played anywhere on the instruments without any shift in body resonance.

A number of articulations, such as Arco Vibrato, Staccato, Pizzicato, Tremolo, Half-Step Trills and Whole-Step Trills are included in each bank. An amazing new feature found only in Gigasampler® and Gigastudio® called “keyswitching” allows the keyboardist instant access to all of the various articulations in real time at the touch of a key. Because of the considerable data contained in these instruments, Gigasampler® and Gigastudio® provided the only real format choice for this new incredible disk.

All of these samples were recorded using our proprietary recording techniques. Apogee® Digital to Analog converters were used throughout the recording process utilizing Apogee's UV-22 process. GML® and Euphonix® equipment were used in the analog side of the recording. We think these are the best sounding solo strings available today.
